

THE CHRISTMAS RUSH is swamping Post Office employees, who are handling hundreds of packages a day. Shown above are Larry Gonzales and Joseph Vasi in the process of emptying a big mail cart. The Post Office will be open all day Saturday. Mailing hours through Dec. 23 will be 8:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. There will be no window service on Sundays.

Plan Community Sing In Square Dec. 21

Do you like to be urged to sing or are you more like Postmaster Charles Louk who may burst forth in song most anywhere—on the street, in the shower or at a Kiwanis Club meeting?

In either event, if you live in the Sierra Madre area you are invited to attend a "community sing" in Kersting Ct. on Monday evening, Dec. 22, between 7 and 8:30 o'clock.

Under the joint sponsorship of the local Ministerial Association and the Chamber of Commerce, the event may develop into one of the most dramatic occasions of the coming Christmas season.

Rev. George Lindsay, representing the ministerial group, is general chairman. He expects that there will be at least four adult choirs and six children's choirs, all in robes.

The combined choirs of the various churches will assemble at 7 o'clock by the cannon at the northeast corner of Memorial Park. Headed by a trumpeter the robed group will proceed to the Nativity Scene in Kersting Ct. for a program of Christmas carols and other folk songs in which everyone will be asked to join.

The city will close Kersting Ct. to traffic from 7 to 8:30 o'clock.

Meeting On Light Survey Set

Results of a city-wide survey of Sierra Madre's street lighting will be heard by members of the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday at a meeting in the Woman's Clubhouse from 8 to 9 a.m.

The survey of the city's street lighting and its effects on crime, traffic accidents and business was made by the Southern California Edison Co. at the request of the City Council.

Presenting results and several proposed changes will be H. L. Johnston, lighting consultant from Edison. His remarks will be followed with a film showing the role played by street lighting in the community's business life.

Recognizing the interest of all Sierra Madre residents in such a proposed program, Chamber officials said they are planning open meetings in the future following these sessions for Chamber members.

Final Services Observed for Mrs. L. M. Fend

Mrs. Luise Margaret Fend, 431 N. Sunnyside, died Sunday, following a lengthy illness.

A native of Germany and a former resident of Detroit, Mrs. Fend had resided in Sierra Madre the past eight years. Funeral services were held yesterday in Ripple Mortuary with the Rev. Armin Hesse of Faith Lutheran Church officiating. Interment was in Live Oak Cemetery, Monrovia.

Mrs. Fend is survived by her husband, Emil, who operates an upholstery and furniture shop on E. Montecito; four daughters, Norma, Dolores and Carol Ann Fend, all of Sierra Madre, and Mrs. Frank Schweppe, La Verne, Mich.; two sons, Werner and Robert Fend of Walnut Creek, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Roscoe Wilshire, Lansing, Mich.; and four grandchildren. Other brothers and sisters are living in Germany.

LOS POSADAS
The joy of Christmas weaves delicately between the spiritual values and the pleasures of giving as "Los Posadas" enters the midway point of its eight weeks run at Padua Hills Theatre.

Presenting results and several proposed changes will be H. L. Johnston, lighting consultant from Edison. His remarks will be followed with a film showing the role played by street lighting in the community's business life.

Recognizing the interest of all Sierra Madre residents in such a proposed program, Chamber officials said they are planning open meetings in the future following these sessions for Chamber members.

Final Rites Held for Mr. Seiling

Oskar Seiling, outstanding musician and artist, died last Sunday following a lengthy illness. He was 73 years old.

Born in Munich, Germany, July 7, 1880, Mr. Seiling came to the United States in the early 1900's. An accomplished violinist, he gave concerts in the Midwest and on the West Coast before moving to Sierra Madre. He also established a music studio in Los Angeles.

In 1915, he married Louise Gunning, renowned light opera star of that time, and together they created a center for music and musicians at their Sierra Madre home, 500 N. Adams.

MR. SEILING organized the Brahms Chamber Music Society of Los Angeles and was professor of violin for many years at Occidental College, Redlands and Riverside.

He and his wife created an outdoor bowl at their home in 1937 in which the acoustics were so perfect that a thousand persons facing the concrete platform could hear each nuance of the music being performed. Several hundred friends of the Seilings attended the opening concert in the bowl on Aug. 29, 1937.

Professor Seiling was also active in civic affairs here and served on the City Council and Planning Commission. He is largely responsible for the uniform planting of trees in the city.

IN HIS later years he retired, but continued to teach the violin to many young Sierra Madreans.

Surviving besides his widow is a son, Joseph, of Los Angeles.

Private graveside funeral services will be held today with the Ripple Mortuary in charge of arrangements. Rev. George Lindsay of the Congregational Church will officiate.

School Program Planned Here On Dec. 18

A "December Parents' Program," educational in nature, will be presented in the Sierra Madre School Auditorium at 8 p.m. Dec. 18. Superintendent Robert E. Walker announced yesterday.

The same program, to be put on by sixth graders, will be shown at 9:30 a.m. Dec. 18 at a student assembly. Sixth grade teachers in charge are Philip Mitchell, Mrs. Fern Wise and Miss Marjorie Carr. Leonard Burwell is in charge of the music.

Mr. Walker said the same type of program is put on each year by many other schools.

Firemen's Ball Set Dec. 20

The annual Firemen's Christmas Dance will be held Dec. 20 in the Woman's Clubhouse, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Proceeds from the dance will be used for the Christmas party at Memorial Park for Sierra Madre youngsters. Tickets may be purchased from local firemen or at the door the evening of the dance.

Tire Puncture Cases Plague Police Here

Police have been plagued recently by a wave of tire puncture cases throughout the city. Twelve such cases have been reported in the past two weeks.

Latest victims of this vandalism are Nathaniel Van De Verg, 86 E. Mira Monte; Ramon Cappotelli, 123 E. Montecito; and Walter Dubenski, 3170 Las Lunas, Pasadena.

All three reported the tires on their cars had been punctured Dec. 6 while parked on Sierra Madre streets. The punctures apparently were made with a tool similar to an ice pick.

POLICE LAST Saturday arrested John Alden Dowling, 27, of 11111 Thelma St., Sun Valley, on charges of petty theft.

Dowling was seen by Dave Roess of Roess Market as he walked from the store with three cartons of cigarettes. Mr. Roess and Dick James, an employee of the store, followed Dowling and saw him hide the cigarettes behind Arnold's Hardware. He was later arrested.

Dowling was arraigned in Municipal Court on a petty theft charge and turned over to Sheriff's Police on a narcotics violation.

He has been arrested several other times on charges of burglary and narcotics addiction.

ONE HUMOROUS incident, although possibly police did not find it so, sent Patrolmen Homer Christensen and Leon Wilburne scurrying to Chantry Flats to cut down a body hanging from a tree.

Two unidentified persons, a man and a woman, called police at 4:15 a.m. to report a body hanging from a tree about two miles up the Chantry Flats Rd.

When police arrived, the body was there, but it was stuffed with rags. A dummy, in other words.

City Delays Change In Kersting Parking

Business Protest Prompts New Study

The proposed change in the Kersting Ct. parking system was delayed by the City Council Tuesday night after protests had been read from four businesses.

It had been planned to make all parking on the north side of Kersting Ct. parallel in an effort to prevent cars from rolling backward across Baldwin. Parking on the south side would be angle.

It's possible that the city may put in a berm—or asphalt hump—along the north side of the street which would prevent parked cars from moving. City Administrator Lawrence C. Bevington will investigate this possibility and report at the next Council meeting.

PROTESTS WERE received from Mr. and Mrs. Julian La Lone, R. A. Garland, Byron Hopper and Tom Schwartz. All the letters urged a retention of the present parking system. The proposed change, it was argued, would increase the traffic hazard and would be unfair to the merchants on the north side of Kersting Ct.

The change would have gone into effect Tuesday night if no protests had been received, since the ordinance was due for its second and final reading.

In other action, the Council upheld the Planning Commission ruling on the Victor Daniels lot split on Mt. Wilson Trail Rd.

Mr. Daniels was permitted to split his property into four lots with the stipulation that he pave Mt. Wilson Trail Rd. with asphalt to a width of 20 feet covering the frontage of his property—about 360 feet.

HE AND his wife appealed the Planning Commission ruling to the City Council. They argued that Mt. Wilson Trail Rd. is a dedicated city street and thus the city is responsible for paving it. They also protested the 20-foot requirement, arguing that they are being forced to pave the entire street, not half of it as is usual in such cases.

The Council, however, decided that the addition of four lots would increase the use of Mt. Wilson Trail Rd. and that Mr. Daniels should bear the cost. The Council also plans eventually to widen Mt. Wilson Trail Rd. to 30 feet, which means that Mr. Daniels will have paved two-thirds of the road in front of his property.

The cost of paving the other third presumably will be met by other property owners in the area.

THE COUNCIL ALSO:

1. Noted that Los Angeles County is still infested with a large number of rabid animals, including bats and other wild life. This was reported by the County Health Department.

2. Concurred in Police Chief Gordon McMillan's recommendation that stop signs are not needed at Auburn and Carter. Instead, the chief said shrubs must be removed from the southeast corner of the intersection and caution signs must be painted on the street. Several mail boxes which had obstructed the view have been removed by the Post Office.

3. Regretfully accepted the resignation of Dr. Paul Narocowich from the Library Board. Dr. Narocowich said in his resignation that the press of other business prevented him from devoting as much time as he would like to the Library Board.

4. Approved the employment of Irving Cohen, a professional appraiser, to estimate the value of three proposed sites for the Mira Monte reservoir. He will receive $250 for his services.

5. Asked Councilman James Abernethy to report on proposals made by the Recreation Commission concerning the Canyon Pool. It has been suggested, among other things, that the pool be converted to a parking area.

6. Designated the week of Dec. 9 to 15 as Bill of Rights Week.

Mitchell To Head Chamber

E. R. Mitchell, manager of the First Western Bank & Trust Co. here, was elected president of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday morning to succeed Robert H. Green.

Mr. Green, who did not seek re-election, has been president for the past 2½ years.

Also elected were Dave Roess, vice president, and Ralph Hurwit, treasurer. Four new directors have also been elected.

They are John H. Curtis, re-elected; Noren Eaton, Larry Lomax and Sam Perloff. Holdover members are Robert H. Green, E. R. Mitchell, Ralph Hurwit, Juanita Perry, Dave Roess and Dick Lees.

The Chamber of Commerce is now considering the names of possible successors to Anthony Cavalli, secretary-manager for the past five years. Mr. Cavalli is resigning because of ill health.

Approximately 60 applications have been received for the job. The problem of selecting a new secretary-manager is expected to be explored at a general membership meeting in the near future.

THIS 14-POUND cut throat trout won a prize of $100 for Frank C. Cooper, 30 S. Lima, at Walker Lake in Hawthorne, Nev. The Coopers recently returned from their fishing trip with Mr. and Mrs. William Underwood, 770 Canyon Crest.

Rose Girls Collect Record $517 in Sale

The Sierra Madre Float Association collected $516.75 from the sale of roses—more than four times the amount raised before in a single season, Mrs. Mary Moyer, chairman of the Rose Committee, announced yesterday.

The four winners who collected the most money are Judy Haymaker, Jana Rudback, Pamela Crouse and Jean Nordyke. They will be guests at the Coronation Ball.

"The tremendous success of the rose sale," Mrs. Moyer said, "is entirely due to the enthusiastic response and hard work by the teenage girls that sold the miniature roses in the downtown area and from house to house."

Their contribution and good sportsmanship has greatly aided the finances of the Float Association and they certainly deserve the appreciation of the whole community."

THE FLOAT Association still needs volunteers to work on the float, Call Elgin 5-3042 to volunteer. Work is presently underway on the float behind the

Farewell, Mr. Snavely

Listle Snavely, twice defeated as Democratic candidate for the 48th Assembly District, has switched parties. He's now a Republican—and it's about time.

Mr. Snavely claims that members of the 48th District Democratic Council are "very impractical . . . people who are floating around in the sky on a cloud."

"The only reason they endorsed me," he complained, "was because they could find no one else to run. They have not supported me in a manner a candidate should be supported. In fact many worked against me. They were very much against me because of the fact that I had Republican support."

MR. SNAVELY is angry and hurt. We sympathize with his plight, but question his political wisdom.

His plaintive cry that the Democratic Council is composed of dreamers is ironic in view of the fact that Mr. Snavely displayed a dreaminess akin to phantasmagoria during the past campaign.

He made the mistake of thinking he could win, and he compounded the first error by believing he could win by trying to out-Republican the district's biggest Republican of all—Frank Lanterman.

Now the 48th District is so solidly aligned with the GOP that a Democrat has about as much chance of winning a partisan political office as would John Foster Dulles in Peking.

DEMOCRATIC candidates in this assembly district are sacrificial goats. Their primary responsibility is to unite their party, help raise money and support candidates for state and national offices.

Mr. Snavely's lugubrious assertion that the Democrats didn't support him is doubly ironic since he failed to help anybody, including himself.

His notion that Republicans would vote for him in droves was equally fantastic, for, after all, Frank Lanterman is about as Republican as you can get. And just how many GOP stalwarts, may I ask, were prepared to desert their political soulmate to embrace an unknown quantity like Mr. Snavely, even if he did make sounds like a Republican?

In any event, Mr. Snavely has left the fold, which is his constitutional privilege, and the Democrats in the district are glad, which is their privilege, also. H.W.E.

Around the Square

By Tommy Ann Miller

People stymied for just the "right" Christmas present can look to the Thompson Wild Animal Farm (on the shores of Lake Okeechobee, Florida Everglades) for a solution.

What's available? Black bears (200 to 400 lbs.), $100 each; Mustached Marmosets, $49.50; African lion cubs, $100 and up; Wattleed Guans, $50 a pair; wild Razor Back hogs, $25 each; alligators, $22.50 a dozen, etc.

For the spouse who "has everything," why not stuff the Yule stocking with 11 feet of Boa Constrictor—a steal at $2.50 per foot.

WALTER WINS. Walter Askin, whose watercolor exhibit opened at the Library last week, won a purchase award for his "Night Fire Figure" in the San Gabriel Valley Artists show, now at the Pasadena Art Museum. Of the 650 entries, 73 works were chosen—and only four awards were given.

FLUID EXCHANGE. The Red Cross Mobile Unit arrived with a truckload of orange juice, Monday, and departed with a truckload of hi-octane local blood.

PHILLIP JENKINS had remarkable luck (even by New England standards) on his first fall hunting trip—one day he shot a deer in New Hampshire and the next day bagged a bear in Vermont. Phil, son of Leon Jenkins of East Carter, left in August to live with his uncle and aunt, the Ralph Jenkins, and is in his senior year at Colebrook Academy, N.H.

ORGANIST OCCUPIED. Burnette Meeder has pulled out all stops and is busily accompanying Eastern Star installations in El Monte, Arcadia—as well as locally. Burnette, one of Garland's Right Hands, has been playing for fashion shows, Masonic functions, etc., since 1951.

ACCORDING to one patron, the VFW should prevent Tom (quite an authority on politics and American history) from ever getting on a quiz program. If he does, the networks will have a new champ and Sierra Madre will be minus one of its best bartenders.

FRANK COOPER netted a $100 prize for hooking into a 14-pound trout in the annual Cutthroat Derby at Walker Lake, Nevada.

CALICO CAMPERS. Another Sierra Madre group, including the Hans Gutierrez and daughter, Faith, Roland Gutierrez, Bert Embree's, Louis George's and Gordon MacMillan's, set up holiday camp at Calico and went looking for Jasper and lava rock.

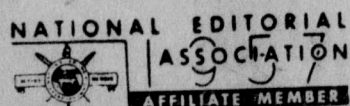

FRANK WHALEN seemed relieved to note that "Watch for Opening Date" finally has concluded its record-breaking run at the local theatre.

MOONLIGHT MOUNTAINEERS. About 20 hiking citizens, toting wieners, marshmallows and magnums of hot coffee, followed the new asphalt road (dirt progress!) down from Chantry Flats, under the full moon.

The group headed upstream to Winter Creek and a campstove weenie-bake (permit necessary)—only to discover sometime later that they were partying in a nest of sleeping Boy Scout campers.

Is Idealism Dead in Political Circles?

By Robert G. Spivack

IS IDEALISM PASSE? — Why is it that men in politics are so often afraid to display their inner feelings—to admit that they yearn for a better society and a better life?

I have known a great many politicians, even some from Tammany Hall and other lower levels, whose instincts are decent. As I write these lines I am thinking of two such hard-boiled backroom politicians who, in private, have often told me of the dismay and shame they have felt about day-by-day operations. Yet both men will never say out in the open what they consider to be the ingredients of good government. For a tough political operator, they admit, the worst thing that can happen is to become known as a dreamer or idealist.

This contrast between political idealism and alleged realism was vividly demonstrated here the other day by two separate—but not entirely disconnected—political events. The Democratic National Committee held its first post-election political conference. And Americans for Democratic Action made public its program for the 86th Congress.

On the one hand, there were a collection of political personalities who pride themselves on being men of action. On the other hand, there were men who are admittedly thinking men; the ADAers take pride in their ability to see beyond today and into the future.

MUCH OF THE Democratic Party conference was devoted to arguments over whether National Chairman Paul Butler should stop talking about civil rights, where the 1960 convention should be held, and who was going to dispose of that $700,000 deficit left over from the 1956 Stevenson-Kefauver campaign. All these, of course, are important problems and had to be disposed with, in one way or another.

But they took up so much time and underscored so many rifts within the party ranks that almost no time was left to think ahead to the kind of record the new "liberal" 86th Congress ought to try to make for itself.

STANDSTILL OR MOVE FORWARD?—Robert R. Nathan, a gentle and courageous man who happens to be ADA national chairman, moved into fill the void. He called for a "New Deal" for the 1960s. What he outlined was a program to realize the huge economic potential of this nation—and to avoid stagnation. The present Administration, and the President in particular, have become so "budget-blinded by this year's recession-caused deficit" that they are thinking of how to retrench at a time when we ought to be expanding, Nathan said.

Unlike the political "pros" Nathan was not afraid to delineate the over-all objectives of this "New Deal" nor fearful of outlining the means of achieving them. What did he ask? Nothing very radical, but his words were words we do not hear very often these days: "End poverty in the United States; eliminate slums and provide a decent home for every American family; offer a first class education to every American child; bring the miracles of modern medical science to every American; secure equal rights and opportunities and civil liberties for every American; provide, in concert with other developed nations . . . our share of the seed capital and 'know-how' required to help underdeveloped countries on the way to self-sustaining economic growth."

IS THIS so much to ask in 1958? Nathan, who is a first-rate economist, says it is a "moderate" approach.

"It is dangerous nonsense to counsel inaction on the grounds that action is 'inflationary,'" he said. "The rising national output can increase government revenues, at present tax rates, by some $4 to $5 billion each year ($5 to $6 billion a few years from now)."

In those few sentences, it seems to me Nathan was providing the kind of idealism for which the nation yearns. At the same time it was utterly realistic and within the realm of possibility. In short, it is this combination of the practical and the ideal that can win for some candidate in 1960—if the public is convinced of his integrity.

For Added TV Sport—Bet on Commercial

By Lee Shippey

We got so conditioned to what we get used to that anything else seems wrong. For instance, we are getting so conditioned to radio and television that it is hard to enjoy a stage play as we should—every five minutes we find ourselves expecting a commercial and wondering whether this time it will be for cigarettes, beer, beauty cream, hair tonic or what seems to be the all-time favorite, irregularity, which must be the most regular thing in America to judge by the number of so-called remedies for it.

Some of us even lay bets on what the next spot commercial will be about, thereby lending some sporting interest to some programs which otherwise are very dull. But if the producers don't look out they are going to kill the public's interest by giving us more commercial than entertainment. We're dangerously near the saturation point now.

OUT OF THE COBWEBS

43 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Dec. 10, 1915 — Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Camp have returned from San Francisco, where they went to be present at the closing of the exposition.

Mrs. Laura Stevenson of La Jolla issued invitations to the wedding of her daughter, Janet, to Mr. Henry Randolph Wood, to take place in the Church of the Ascension, Sierra Madre.

Rev. and Mrs. Fred Staff and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Timm spent Monday at the cabins in the Bailey canyon.

20 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Dec. 9, 1938—Marcus Woodward, Sierra Madre attorney, has been elected president of Pasadena Chess Club.

Miss Betty Newton and Mrs. Kenneth McKenzies, fourth and sixth grade teachers, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Steinberger, principal, conducted their classes on an excursion to the Los Angeles Harbor.

Mrs. H. M. Selk, Mrs. Agnes Woehler and Mrs. F. L. C. Roess were guests at a bridge breakfast given by Mrs. A. D. Cain at her home on East Alegria.

10 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Dec. 9, 1948—Sierra Madre is not on the verge of joining the Metropolitan Water District, and no move for such a venture is underway here. This was made clear this week by Councilman Herman Barter.

Population of Sierra Madre is now 7,142. This is the estimate made this week by the County Regional Planning Commission.

5 YEARS AGO THIS WEEK, Dec. 10, 1953 — Friends of the Library, newly formed, will be directed through the coming year by the officers and policy board members. They are Miss Martha C. Prichard; Mrs. George Russell, secretary; Raymond D. Andrews, president; Mrs. John Conzelman, vice president; Mrs. Dan Stright; Dr. Paul Sheldon; and John Fetters, treasurer.

Mr. and Mrs. Gale L. Hersey, 581 Wilcox Rd., and their two daughters returned from a 10-day holiday at Rancho San Jose, about 100 miles below Ensenada in Mexico.

THANKSGIVING HOLIDAY traffic deaths totaled 454 plus thousands of serious injuries. "Butchered to make a Roman holiday" is a classic line which comes to mind. But Rome butchered only a few gladiators. We seem determined to turn every holiday into a mortician's field day.

Scout Ship 391 To Receive Charter Sunday

SEA SCOUT Ship 391, which has recently come under the sponsorship of the Sierra Madre Congregational Church, will receive its new charter during the 11 o'clock service of worship this Sunday morning.

Royal English, district scout executive, will present the charter to Ronald Westerman, institutional representative for the church. George Barnett is chairman of the Ship Committee, and Milton Goldberg is acting as skipper.

New Organ Dedication Set Sunday

Dedication of the new Allen organ will take place at 10 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 14, at Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, 33 E. Sierra Madre Blvd.

The organ, purchased with a donation from the Pacific Southwest Synod of United Lutheran Churches and voluntary gifts from members and friends, has been completely paid for in less than one year.

At the service, the Chapel

Choir, directed by the organist, Mrs. Robert Moxley, will sing "As Joseph Went Awaiting." The pastor, the Rev. Ray E. Hansen, will preach on "What Do You Seek?" as the third in his series of Advent sermons on the theme "Christ Comes to Us."

The children and youth Christmas program has been moved up from Christmas Eve to the Sunday before Christmas, Dec. 21, when it will be presented at the regular 10 a.m. service. The pastor will have "The Greatest Gift" as the meditation.

The program, "Christmas Light," written by the Youth Choir director, Mrs. Evelyn Clauson, is centered about five familiar Christmas customs—the burning of candles, praying, singing carols, bringing gifts and the Christmas tree.

All Sunday school classes and the Luther League will participate. Final rehearsal is 11 a.m. Saturday, Dec. 20.

CHURCHMEN OF YEAR
Presbyterians of the Southland have broken from tradition in their annual Churchmen of the Year award by naming two laymen for the honor instead of the usual one. They are R. Howard Annin, 70, of 1805 Warwick Road, San Marino, and Max Eddy Utt, 56, of 1706 Highland Av., Glendale.

Knowing the rules of driving safety is only half enough—you have to practice them.

CIVIC CLUB
Flora DeLee, Pasadena caterer, will decorate a holiday table and give hints on holiday entertaining when Sierra Madre Civic Club meets tonight at 223 San Gabriel Ct. for its annual Christmas party. Members are to bring gifts for Santa's bag.

Mistletoe Plentiful in Area Forests

Do-it-yourself Christmas wreath makers and mistletoe fanciers can find plenty of materials in the Southland's National Forests, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Free-use permits to pick mistletoe, cones, pods, seeds or manzanita can be obtained from the local district ranger in the National Forests. Commercial harvesters must pay a variable fee based on amount to be picked. The ranger station in the Sierra Madre area is at 2219 N. Santa Anita Ave.

MOST DISTRICT ranger stations are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Some stations are open on weekends as well. The Auto Club advises that a check be made on possible road closures caused by fire hazard or snow.

The Forest Service suggests harvesters wear heavy boots and jeans to protect themselves from the brush, and they bring their own cutting tools.

Natural Christmas decoration materials are reported in the following areas:

ANGELES NATIONAL FOREST—Mistletoe available in Big Rock Canyon area, Green Valley area and a little high in the trees in San Antonio Canyon. Pine cones, manzanita and yucca stalks are plentiful out of Valermo Ranger Station.

SAN BERNARDINO National Forest—Removal of any material within 200 feet of the highway is forbidden. Cajon Station reports Pinon, ponderosa and Jeffrey pine cones available 10 miles north of Fontana in Lytle Creek area.

CLEVELAND NATIONAL Forest—Private property is integrated with the National Forest land, so a check should be made with rangers before entering. Mistletoe, manzanita, wild buckwheat, yucca stalks and lichen are reported available around Descanso Station. Coulter and Jeffrey pine cones can be picked up around Mount Laguna.

SEQUOIA NATIONAL Forest—Cones of sequoia and Digger, ponderosa, Jeffrey and sugar pines are available in this area. Also manzanita, acorns and wild buckwheat can be obtained.

INYO NATIONAL Forest—Many roads are closed by snow at this time of year. The rangers can direct searchers to likely available places.

SIERRA NATIONAL Forest—The only practical place to find manzanita, acorns and dried grass at this time of year will be in the lower elevation spots in the Sierra.

Bank of America Heads School Bond Syndicate

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—State Treasurer A. Ronald Button reported a syndicate headed by the Bank of America has submitted a successful bid for $100 million worth of state bonds—half for school building aid and half for state construction.

Button said the bid set a net interest rate of 3.61 per cent on the school bonds and 3.57 per cent on the state construction bonds. The last previous sale of state bonds, also $100 million, was on July 23, when an interest rate of 3.22 per cent was obtained.

In addition to the Bank of America, the syndicate included the Bankers Trust Co., First National Bank of Chicago, Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., American Trust Co., Security First National Bank of Los Angeles, and California Bank (Los Angeles).

LAFF OF THE WEEK

"Don't worry about the fit... We can always put a roll of paper under the sweatband."

Brown's Press Aide Finds Boss Able but Cautious

SACRAMENTO—(CNS)—One of the amusing incidents around the state capital right now is the story written by Hale Champion, who will be one of Governor-elect Edmund G. Brown's press secretaries at $15,000 a year, describing what he thinks of his boss.

Of course, Champion wrote the story and submitted it to "The Reporter," a national magazine, before he was selected as one of the governor's two press secretaries. The story, titled "To the Victors Belongs the Empty Treasury," does not give the Democratic administration a great deal.

FIRST, CHAMPION says there is a "haunting uncertainty" in the air.

"For despite all the splendor of their triumphs, the Democrats have not yet established anything like conclusive control of California's vast and growing political strength."

And here is the clincher on what the new press secretary thinks of his boss, for he says:

"Moreover, their leadership may not be up to the difficult task of doing so."

Describing Brown's victory over Sen. William F. Knowland, Champion says:

"His spectacular victory over Knowland does not make him a giant-killer—it happened that Knowland turned out not to be a giant."

THE STORY says further:

"He (Brown) has had a fairly successful career in lesser posts. For seven years as district attorney in San Francisco and for eight years as attorney general, he has pretty much stayed out of trouble and done his job. He is energetic, but he is also excessively cautious. Caution may be vital to political survival in minor offices, but it can bring ruin to a man in a position requiring strong, positive leadership.

"Newspapermen know Brown as an honest, fair-minded and moderately able fellow who, when he finds himself compelled to act, usually does the right thing—especially if the right thing isn't hard to do."

THE ARTICLE then goes on to describe part of the place of Fred Dutton, Brown's mentor and campaign manager.

Champion says that some of the credit for Brown's victory must go to Dutton, who is a young, former utilities corporation lawyer, and who was drawn into politics originally by "the charm of Adlai Stevenson."

"As Brown's campaign manager he did an organizational job that earned him some enemies (something Brown would be better off earning more of one of these days), but also gained him an enviable reputation as the best of the party's new 'pros' in California."

"HE IS moving to Sacramento as Brown's executive secretary, but whether he will remain as influential as he was during the campaign remains a question.

"He is more committed to ideas and ideals than is Brown. Even in the hurly-burly of the campaign, he reached for a perfection of performance that made some who worked with him, including Brown, uncomfortable at times."

Reports in Sacramento are that the Brown group is not very happy with the story.

Van Gogh Art Show Opens in County Museum

Preparations are nearing completion at the Los Angeles County Museum for the installation of the $9,000,000 collection of art works by Vincent Van Gogh, which arrived in Los Angeles last week in the passenger compartments of two United Airlines Mainliners.

Eight galleries on the main floor at the main foyer are being prepared under the supervision of Dr. Richard F. Brown, Chief Curator of Art, for the Van Gogh Exhibition which opened at the Museum Dec. 10 and will run through Jan. 18.

The exhibition shattered all previous attendance records for an admission fee show in San Francisco. To accommodate the large crowds expected here, the Los Angeles County Museum will remain open until 10 p.m. on Tuesday and Friday evenings during the period the Van Gogh Exhibition will be on view.

Regular Museum hours are from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Mondays and Christmas. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

ORCHID FILM

Announcement was made this week of the availability of a 16 mm color sound film with music and narration on the breeding, culture, care and marketing of cymbidium orchids. This 25 minute film, "Cymbidium Wonderland" was produced for Dos Pueblos Orchid Co. of Goleta, Calif.

Drinking Results in 55% Of December Accidents

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D., L.A. County Health Officer
With approximately 51 million passenger cars on the highways the number of accidents is bound to be great, but the accident rate grows considerably larger when drinking is mixed with a little "Christmas cheer."

Indeed, on last Christmas Day and on New Year's a total of 509 individuals in the United States lost their lives in traffic accidents, which is more than three times the number that occurs during an average two-day period.

Despite all official warnings, nearly the same statistics will no doubt repeat themselves this year and for many years to come. They comprise what is essentially a fearful holiday specter which, however, seems to have little correcting or sobering effect.

Yet, it is the opinion of experts that nearly every accident on the highway could be prevented. It is when a driver is somewhat fatigued, angry, in too much of a hurry, or his reactions are slowed by alcohol that chances for an accident multiply. Indeed, when any condition occurs that contributes to accident proneness the odds are against safety in any car.

ALTHOUGH traffic safety is a mass problem, thus far than pressing onward beyond safe endurance. When such plans are made ahead of time during a family conference, a stop becomes part of the fun rather than a disagreeable delay.

IN GENERAL, night driving should be avoided, for most accidents are shown to occur between 6 p.m. and midnight during the holidays, and between 6 and 9 p.m. during other periods of the year.

Usually a family group has at least two drivers, in which case the responsibility for driving should be shared. Less fatigue is experienced if more than one individual shares in the driving, and consequently more safety exists for all concerned.

Drinking is a factor in approximately 30 per cent of all fatal accidents for 11 months each year. During December, however, drinking as a factor in fatal accidents jumps to 55 per cent. It would seem that the driver should remain absolutely sober during holiday festivities even if no one else does.

CORNELL MEDICAL College research workers, assisted by officials of the State Health Department, report that each year nearly 1,500 California traffic deaths, more deaths than occur from polio and tuberculosis combined, could be prevented by the use of safety belts in cars and trucks.

So, a possible Christmas gift suggestion for the entire family might well be the installation of a set of safety belts in the family car.

Garden Notes . . .

Vital in Azalea Culture

You might, if you looked hard enough, find a plant more beautiful than the azalea in full bloom. But why try? It would be like living in paradise and seeking something better.

Some gardeners, no doubt, will answer, "Yes, but how do you get an azalea to bloom that way?" If you are one of these you may have planted the wrong azalea in the wrong place.

SOMEONE GIVES you a full-flowered azalea. You plant it in the garden and it never looks the same again. What happened? Probably this: Your azalea was bred indoors for the florist trade, not the nursery trade, and your climate or soil might have been too rough on such a tender beauty. Best check with a local member of the California Association of Nurseriesmen to learn the best garden specimens for your area.

Roughly, the four main types you'll find in California are the evergreen Indicas, Kurumes and Southern Indicas plus the deciduous Mollis hybrids. And which of these you find depends pretty much on where you live.

The hardest and most widely distributed evergreens in the state are Kurumes, of which the vivid rose-pink Hexe is the best-known prototype. Flowers are slightly smaller and more heavily massed than on the Indicas.

THE INDICAS are larger flowered but sparser of bloom and more subject to frost damage in winter. They are favorites with gardeners, however, and Albert and Elizabeth Blushing Bride and Paul Schame.

The Southern Indicas, as the name implies, are the famed azaleas of the deep South. They are best adapted to Southern California where they thrive in warmth and sun as no other azalea will. Well-known varieties of this type are Fielder's White, and the taller watermelon pink, Pride of Mobile.

Deciduous Mollis hybrids seem best adapted to the North Coast region. They can be made to do well in warmer areas and when available are well worth the try. The mass of bloom precedes the foliage generally and is all the more striking for it.

Trouble that looks like a mountain in the distance is usually only a hill when you get to it.

Boats Plan
Limited
Load Trips

By Al Miyadi

FOR 1959—More deep-sea landings are expected to follow Norm Hagen's example of limited loads. A few landings, notably Redondo, during the peak fishing period loaded their boats to the gills; never illegally, you understand, but enough so that you almost always rubbed elbows while casting.

On the other hand, a few landings have made definite plans to boost fares. Boat launching facilities generally will be improved and expanded, but here again price hikes are expected. Some landings, like Paradise Cove, are unhappy over insurance problems, may cut such private boat launchings altogether. PC owner Joe Morris angered more than a few small boat owners by hiking substantially his launching service fee earlier this year.

On the outdoor scene, better coverage will be provided by the metropolitan press. Times, Examiner, and Mirror already have increased weekly page to two.

Thus hard pressed, the Western Outdoor News is expected to increase sharply its hard news coverage. Now, biggest, most successful weekly newspaper of its type in the U.S., circulation is pushing 60,000 mark, most of it in the Southland.

Too, national mags are expected to shift emphasis on West Coast fishing activities. Mexico will make a major bid to capture a bigger hunk of the Southland fishing trade. While resort areas picked up in 1958, Ensenada operators were keenly disappointed, particularly in light of their superb fishing scene.

WHITE SEA BASS — With

THE BAFFLES

By Mahoney

cooling weather, the winter run of white sea bass got under way with a bang last week.

With few exceptions, landings reported surprisingly good catches. Hotspot is Santa Monica, Malibu close behind. More surprising, Paradise Cove, scene of last year's mammoth run, failed to mark up significantly on whites. Should develop. Check schedule here before going.

BARRACUDA, CALICO — All landings reporting nice scooter counts. Calico action picking up with bulls moving in. Norm's at Santa Barbara real hot on calico. If you're the type, bottom fishing is good, should turn excellent in week or two. A good way to fill the freezer. For meat fishermen only.

Like the whites, though, scooter and calico action hinge on weather conditions. Watch closely.

SALTON SEA—Ranger station at Park No. 1 reports corvina fishing picked up immediately after the winds calmed. Hitting mostly near Bombay Beach and Salt Creek. Both locations on west side of Sea.

Check weather before leaving.

SURF—Redondo and Jonathan Club doing well on barred perch. Still on small-fish side. Croaker slackened, then picked up at Newport. Boat fishermen doing best but shore anglers doing well also. Razor claims best bet.

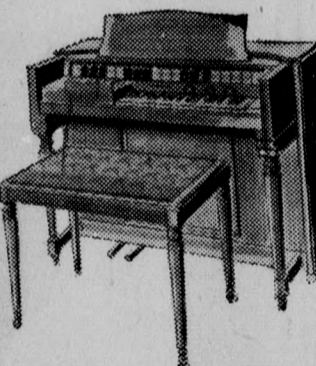

ARBORETUM GREENHOUSE

In memory of their mother, the late Mrs. William May Garland of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. John Jewett Garland of San Marino have made a donation of funds to the California Arboretum Foundation, Inc., in Arcadia for the construction of a new greenhouse on the Arboretum grounds.

State GOP at New Low, Says Knight

SACRAMENTO—(CNS)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight has told Capitol newsmen he believes the Republican party in California is in the worst shape it has been in the 20th century.

"This is not condemnatory—it's a statement of fact," he said. "The losses are the greatest of the century."

Knight referred to the defeat of all GOP constitutional officers but Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan and the fact the Democrats now control the legislature—47-33 in the Assembly and 27-13 in the Senate.

Knight said the popularity of President Dwight Eisenhower, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland and others "couldn't seem to permeate the state structure."

"We were stronger when the Democrats had an extremely popular president (Franklin D. Roosevelt) and had both houses of Congress," Knight said.

Knight said he still has no plans for his future after his term ends Jan. 1 but that he will live in Los Angeles and continue as a "rank and file" worker in the Republican Party. He said Mrs. Knight has started the arduous task of packing belongings, preparing for the move from the executive mansion "right around the first of the year."

Gold Magnolia Makes Effective Outdoor Decoration

By Gordon Baker Lloyd

Last week we were talking about natural door pieces . . . here is another idea, this one out of magnolia.

The ends of magnolia are very formal, like a rosette. Clipping the ends of a magnolia, an established one, of course, does not hurt the tree. Use a branch going down about 18 inches to two feet, and one going up in the opposite direction of about 12 inches. These can be wired together to give the effect of a large corsage.

They can be sprayed with clear plastic out of one of the popular cans or in gold or copper. Glitter the ends with gold while it is still wet. Into the center of each leaf group wire gold balls

. . . the effect with a spot light is tremendous.

IF YOU feel that this piece is a little too formal you can use for a background long branches of conifer, wired into the back of this piece. It's interesting to note that this decoration, since it is flat, can also be used as a centerpiece, add three or five candles.

If you have lots of magnolia or green of some type to use, you can surround the entire door around the door jamb with the same materials that you have used in the door piece. Door pillars or posts or even the area around the porch gable could be covered with the same materials. Into this material wire in the little tiny twinkle lights, the effect is good and natural, too.

Speaking of things natural, may I comment on Sierra Madre's old fashioned use of Christmas trees on the main street in barrels with weatherproof decorations . . . and the creche in the "square" is something to see. Life size, it's a wonderful place to bring the kids . . . life-size magi and animals . . . they add a new one each year.

This scene, put on by the city in cooperation with the merchants, comes closer to the Christmas story than anything I have seen . . . saw a youngster the other night, kneeling in the hay looking in the face of the big cow that is resting quietly.

INSIDE there are so many things to do . . . I don't know where to start . . . if you are like me you like Christmas all through the house . . . little touches everywhere. Let's take the mantle. Nearly everyone can find an old log. It may be driftwood, it may be from a local tree.

At your favorite store where you get pin frogs and decorations you will find some new screw-in candle holders. They are in gold or black. These can be screwed right into the log, at different angles or level. Now some green under the log, natural like, and some higher on one end of the log, in back of it, of course, and then some hanging over the edge of the mantel at the other end. Watch the hanging part in case you have a fire in the fireplace. This effect is natural and will be even more so if you use some snow.

I get ground snow from the five and dime—it's made of styrofoam. This I dip into flame proof cotton, giving me a mass effect of snow. This can be put over part of the top of the log, along its side like the snow had drifted there. Don't make everything white for it's not natural. With a little thought, or looking at a woodland snow scene, you can make a mantel that's most effective — sort of a painting rather than just some things thrown together.

VILLA VIEWS

By Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

Sugar plums and fruit cake, candy canes and tinsel, sleigh bells and dreams of a white Christmas, tired Santas on street corners and too much shopping.

Somewhat with all the fuss and bother we manage to find and keep the Christmas spirit when the first grader comes home from school, eyes all aglow, insisting that her hair must be washed, shoes polished, and everything ready because the Baby Jesus is coming to visit her classroom in just two weeks.

COME CHRISTMAS we all get the feeling that we'd like to do something just a little more than go out and buy stock gifts for the many on our list. Here is an opportunity to do just that at no expense. Mrs. Skipper Rostker of 3425 Barhite called the other day to see if perchance I had an old record player for the patients of the Los Angeles County psychiatric ward. This ward has no financial support for any therapeutic recreational facilities. They are in need of record players, magazines, adult games such as checkers, dominoes, indoor horse-shoes, ping pong, playing cards, cribbage or any other game that may be played in a limited area. Mrs. Rostker, a volunteer worker, will be happy to call for any contribution that you may have. Her telephone number is SYcamore 7-1941.

MRS. GARDNER P. Wilson of Old House Road gave a "koffee klatch" last Wednesday morning to honor her mother, Mrs. Benjamin F. Bills, as well as to introduce her to her many friends. There were about 20 guests at the party.

HOME FROM TEXAS is the George Amthor family. They took a hurried trip down to San Antonio to spend Thanksgiving with Mrs. Amthor's parents.

THE WALTER V. DORN home at 1620 Sierra Madre Villa was the scene of much social activity last weekend. Their daughter, Kathy, had a seventh birthday party last Saturday with 15 of her young friends. They all went to a movie in the morning and then returned to the house for luncheon. The decorations for the party were carried out in the Yule motif. Her guests included Marcie and Randy Mason, Peggy Shafer, Wendy Hunter, Cathy Crawford, Linda and Nancy Borden, Gail Smart, Debbie Maurin, Gretchen Garland, Cindy Dunning, Trudy Paschall, Vivien and Margaret Rostker and her cousin, Jennie Dorn. On Sunday Sharon Dorn had a bridal tea to honor Miss Jacqueline Shafer, who will be married in the near future. There were 25 guests present.

MR. AND MRS. John Hoffman of Wynn Road were delightedly surprised on Nov. 30. Their two daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Newman, gave them a surprise 25th anniversary reception. All in all there were about 80 guests to help in their celebration. They received many beautiful silver gifts among which was a beautifully executed silver money tree. Congratulations.

THE JOHN D. SORENSONS of Calvert Road are finally rested up after their brief vacation in Las Vegas. They went over with the Howard Forsbergs, Edward Bignells, Jack Palmers and Allison Shaws. They were all able to get reservations at the new (Neon Light) Star Dust Hotel. They said the entertainment this time was wonderful inasmuch as most of their favorite stars happened to be appearing that weekend.

A BELATED WELCOME to the new residents on Vosburg. Mrs. Henrietta B. Coke (she is Mrs. Charles F. Robinson's mother) owns the first house, at 3439 Vosburg.

FINAL CHECKING of plans and equipment for "Help Build a Mile of Pennies for Hemophiliac Children," sponsored by San Gabriel Valley District, Hemophilia Foundation of Southern California, next Saturday at Foothill-Rosemead Shopping Center from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. were made at the Howard L. Cronenweth home, 1080 Riviera, by, from left, Donald Butler, Mrs. Butler, Mr. Cronenweth, Hugh Livingston, Peter M. Gnagi and Tina.

UP ON . . .

Hastings Hill

Countdown to Christmas—13 more days!

Many people are probably scheduling Yule parties in Hastings Ranch, but nobody tells us about most of them. So you'll have to guess, along with us, which house is the one all the cars are clustered around on a given occasion—that is if you can't tell by the merry noise.

An early Christmas present for Virginia Buttane came in the form of a Lark, first one of the new little cars we've seen around here. Virginia is all smiles about the pretty turquoise thing, but not half as happy as are the five seventh graders in Virginia's carpool to Wilson Junior High — Karen Buttane, Jeanne Jennings, Ann Lubisch, Karen Sue Cummins and Susan Hurtig.

Talking about new cars, Irving Kingsley has a real little fifty one, a DKW from Germany. The shifting took a little trouble getting used to for wife Margaret, but the only real difficulty came with the service station attendant. The DKW diet requires a pint of oil to be placed into the tank before the gasoline, and service stations are just not used to measuring oil in pints. But Irving solved the problem. He lovingly measures the pint of oil himself and then goes to buy gas.

Taking Florida vacations the latter part of November and early December are two more ranch couples, Ed and Flo Barnes had on their agenda, in addition to Florida, New York and Nassau, and home by way of Dallas. Jeanne and Ray Lindman headed straight for Florida with a visit in Washington DC on their way home.

Incidentally, I hope all of you have paid special attention to today's issue. Since the Marge part of the team was called upon to take them, she can assure you lots that was meant to be in the pictures weren't — such as the adding machine tape, all carefully covered with pennies in the "Help Build a Mile of Pennies" picture, the other half of Bill Lawson's head and Brooks La Boyteaux's bow tie in the outdoor holiday display contest.

She had a six-month South Seas trip before joining our community.

Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Seech own the home at 3445 Vosburg. Mr. Seech is the owner of the San Gabriel Pharmacy.

The hitch came when no mention was made, on the typed list of instructions on "how to use the camera," of WHAT you were supposed to look through to find out what would appear on the film. Judging from results, the camera was pointed at the sky.

Speaking of the holiday decorations, it was gratifying to note a number of displays have already been put up. It is hoped this time next week will find lots and lots more. Remember, we have a big fat weekend coming up to "get to work."

Pat and Dom Giangregorio certainly haven't been suffering. They spent last weekend at Palm Springs where they attended the annual Association of General Contractors' convention.

All members, associate and Las Seguitas members have been invited to Hastings Ranch Guild's, Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, annual Christmas party next Sunday in the San Marino home of former ranch residents, DeeDee and LeRoy Frandsen.

Lucie and Marge.

Wrens Plan Yule Party Saturday

Ranch Wrens and husbands will gather for a Christmas party at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Rim Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cummins.

Cocktails are scheduled from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. with a ham and turkey buffet planned for the dinner hour. Dancing will follow.

Mrs. Philip Shepherd is party chairman assisted by Mrs. John Horne, Mrs. Gordon Hyde, Mrs. Kip Bowen and Mrs. Cummins.

HIGHWAY TAXES

State Controller Robert C. Kirkwood yesterday announced that highway users taxes totaling $29,599,328 were apportioned in November for California counties, cities and the State Highway Fund for expenditure on highways. Highway users taxes receive in October were apportioned last month as follows: Counties, $6,993,836; State Highway Fund for distribution to cities, $2,739,905; and State Highway Fund for expenditure on highways, $19,865,587.

Field Staff Honored at Luncheon

Faculty and other staff members of Eugene Field School were to be honored today at a Christmas luncheon, given for them annually by the executive board of the PTA.

For the first time the luncheon will be held away from school, since the teachers' dining room has been turned into a kindergarten classroom. The nearby Rim Road home of Mrs. Joseph Cummins, PTA vice president, will be the scene of the event, with teachers being served buffet style in two shifts while the children are having their lunch at school. Mothers with teaching credentials have volunteered to supervise the playground during the lunch hour.

Mrs. Donald Wilson is chairman of the luncheon, being assisted in serving by Mrs. James Stivers and Mrs. Jay David. Volunteers among the board also prepared the food to be served.

Birthday Party For Sue Donald

Mr. and Mrs. Edward O. Donald, 1205 Tropical, honored their daughter, Susan, at a luncheon party in celebration of her fourth birthday anniversary.

Those guests in attendance were Karen O'Donnell, Susie Burford, Jill Steele, Jimmy Lord, Donnie Francis, Peter Jacobson and Billy Follmer.

Help Build a Mile of Pennies Scheduled for Next Saturday

"Help Build a Mile of Pennies for Hemophiliac Children" is the password in the area this week with the main event taking place next Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. at Foothill-Rosemead Shopping Center.

The benefit is being sponsored by San Gabriel District, Hemophilia Foundation of Southern California. Arrangements are under the direction of Mrs. Howard L. Cronenweth, district chairman, and Mr. Cronenweth.

A mile of adding machine tape will be attached to the sidewalks around the stores and red-capped volunteers will assist in placing donations on the tape.

THE CRONENWETHS reside at 1080 Riviera. Their son, Robert, has hemophilia — the bleeder's disease. His blood does not clot like other boys. The slightest bump can trigger internal bleeding that, without prompt and skillful treatment, may result in permanently crippled joints, which results in extreme pain, or even death.

He is only one of many boys whose hope for the future is very dim unless a cure is found. Fifteen feet of pennies will pay a research technician's salary for a few hours and any hour could bring the cure for which the boys and their families are hoping.

Robert attends Roosevelt School for the handicapped and is a familiar sight in the area, riding a wheel chair, as a result of damage to the right knee joint caused by internal bleeding, accompanied by his shaggy black dog, Tina.

HE WILL not be able to take part in Saturday's benefit since he has been confined to the hospital for the past three weeks because of more internal bleeding. He has averaged 50 transfusions a year since he was born 13 years ago.

Among those good neighbors assisting in Saturday's event are Hugh Livingston, Pete Gnagi and Ernest Helman.

Mrs. Westcott Entertained At Coffee

Mrs. Carder Dennis and Mrs. Robert Hansen were recent hostesses at a coffee party, in the Dennis home, 3825 Denair, honoring Mrs. Richard Westcott, 3835 Denair, who will be leaving soon for the East.

Those guests arriving for the farewells were Mrs. Frank Bondurant, Mrs. Atlee Bussey, Mrs. Warren Clement, Mrs. Cornell Coons, Mrs. Mary DeWinter, Mrs. Milton Hanowitz, Mrs. Albert A. Husted, Mrs. Richard Neugebauer, Mrs. Carl Swain and Mrs. Charles Switzer.

The Westcotts and their four children, Ricky, 8; Diana, 6; Margie, 4, and Jimmy, 1½, are moving to Moorstown, N.J., where Mr. Westcott will become Union Carbide, Bakelite Division, assistant regional manager for the Southeast.

Lucy Johnson Hosts Recent Square Dance

Lucy Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley D. Johnson, 3755 Startouch, was hostess at a recent square dance party.

Among those visiting the refreshment table, centered by a cake decorated with square dance motifs, were Gail Templar, Barbara Haugen, Patricia LaFaugh, Joyce Goudge, Sally Leonard, Lois Harding and Beverly Zarembo.

Also, Chris Barr, John Kinard, Doug Senour, Barry Trueschott, Gene Vance, Jimmy Simone, Eric Mortensen and Robbie Thiebaut.

Tri Deltas Schedule Yule Parties

Delta Delta Delta alumnae of Pasadena are making preparations for the annual Christmas party scheduled for Dec. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Gerald C. Fitzgerald, 280 S. Arroyo Blvd.

Mrs. Mervin E. Smith, party chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Fred Garrison, Mrs. Thomas J. Torney and Mrs. Byron G. Hill. Mrs. Charles A. Klingerman, president, will preside at the business meeting.

Each member will bring a gift to be presented to a teen-age girl at All Nations Foundation Clinic of Los Angeles.

Tri Delta junior alumnae have planned a holiday cocktail party for members and their husbands next Sunday in the San Marino home of Mr. and Mrs. William MacGregor Jr.

Festive Christmas decorations will set the theme for the event.

Mrs. Donald Reish, president, is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Mrs. Harold Libby and Mrs. John Sessions.

Doug Shepherd Has Mexican Birthday Party

Woody Woodpecker, in the form of a brilliantly colored pinata from Mexico, was the star of the show when Douglas Shepherd was host at a party to celebrate his ninth birthday. Douglas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Shepherd.

Another point of interest was a beautifully decorated birthday cake. Enjoying the Mexican party, especially the "goodies" spilling upon the patio when the pinata was broken, were Dale Summerhayes, Robbie Lambert, Denny Olwin, Susie Averly, Carolyn and Bruce Crinkley, Stewart and TK McClintock, Madeline, Vincent and Tony Pinella and Jeffrey Shepherd.

Delta Zetas Meet Tonight For Dinner

A candy cane lane will lead Delta Zetas of the Pasadena Foothill Alumnae chapter to the gaily decorated doorway at 199 Arden Rd. at 6:30 tonight when they will gather for their traditional holiday dinner party at the Roger W. Trueschott home.

As each member arrives she will place a new toy or book in a special Santa Claus sack, these gifts to be turned over to the Pasadena Welfare Bureau for distribution at Christmas to needy children of the area.

The dinner party was arranged by a committee headed by Mrs. Charles W. Weis and including Mrs. Paul J. Muller, Mrs. Gaynor Roberts, Mrs. Don M. Acres, Mrs. Donald H. Van Steenwyk, Miss Jane Beeman and Mrs. Bertha Wagner.

During the business meeting, alumnae will make financial plans for the Southern California Council benefit fashion show, "Flame Fantasy" to be held Jan. 31 at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Members of the Foothill alumnae on the "Flame Fantasy" committee are Mrs. Jay P. Phillips Jr., Mrs. Hugh Jones and Mrs. Van Steenwyk.

David Crooker Marks Birthday

David Crooker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Crooker, 1280 Leonard, celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary at a luncheon party.

Those young guests taking part in the games and helping to blow out the candles on a cowboy birthday cake were Jimmy Shiner, Jimmy Rosskopf, Susan McCormick, Sheron Verdi, Jay Parry, Tommy Eggleston, Phillip Perley and the guest of honor's older sister, Susan.

Guild Sets Christmas Tea, Musicale Tuesday

The spacious Arbolada Drive home of Mr. and Mrs. Billings Ruddock, Arcadia, will again be the scene of the annual Christmas Tea and Musicale of the Women's Guild of Trinity Presbyterian Church, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

Sparkling Christmas decorations will be in place and the beautifully appointed tea table will offer a variety of delicious tidbits.

The Rev. Donald Ostrander, pastor of Trinity Church, will read the Christmas story and Mrs. Dorothy Greiner, concert singer and soloist at San Marino Community Church, will present a program. Mrs. Virginia Stuhman arranged the program and will be accompanied by Mrs. Greiner.

Circle V is in charge of tea arrangements. Members made final plans at their monthly circle meeting yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. William Pursley, 1125 Daveric.

Circle VI also met yesterday, holding their meeting at El Calvario Settlement House in El Monte.

Meeting Tuesday were Circle II at the Ruddock home; Circle III at Mrs. N. Gunderson's, 41 E. Bonita in Sierra Madre, and Circle IV at Mrs. F. Cole's, 1100 Hastings Ranch.

Christmas Atmosphere 'Invades' Don Benito

"December Holidays" is the theme of the Christmas program at the Don Benito PTA meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 17, from 7:30 to 9 p.m., in the school auditorium.

The musical and narrative program is being presented by the students and faculty at Don Benito under the general direction of Mrs. Mary Dismar and Jarratt Brunson. Four children from each classroom, totaling 93, make up the membership of the two choruses—one of primary-grade children, under the direction of Mrs. Marian Botsford and Miss Marcia Milback; one of upper-grade children, under the direction of Mrs. Jean Burr and Mrs. Carol La Porte. Piano accompaniment will be provided by Miss Irene Hull and Mrs. Edith Hickman. A student narrator and the two choruses will describe Christmas customs in six different countries as part of the program.

Voyagers Name Scholtzes as Club Skippers

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Scholtz have been elected "skippers" of the Voyagers, a couples' club of Trinity Presbyterian Church.

"First mates" are Mr. and Mrs. Rocky Scherer; "log-keepers," Mr. and Mrs. Ward Clark and "purser," Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Faust. Officers will serve during 1959.

Voyagers met at 6:30 last night for the first course of a progressive dinner and caroling party, beginning the evening at the Shapers' South Mountain Trail home. The second course was at the Clarks' and desert at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Ostrander.

Phi Mu Alums Plan Annual Toy Shower

Pasadena area alumnae Phi Mu's gathered in the home of Mrs. Homer Pheasant, 373 Mira Vista Terrace, last evening for their annual Christmas potluck dinner.

Highlight of the event was the placing of new toys, for the toy cart at St. Luke Hospital, under the Christmas tree. This is an old custom with Phi Mu's who support and maintain the hospital toy cart.

At Christmas time, new toys are added and old ones refurbished. During the year, members donate time and money for special projects of the pediatric ward at St. Luke.

Co-hostesses for the evening were Mrs. H. A. Foster and Mrs. Paul Robinson.

Among those in attendance were Mrs. James Sullivan, Mrs. Richard Ungerland, Mrs. John Renek and Mrs. Earl Stanek.

Sigma Kappa Alums Have Holiday Party

The senior division of Sigma Kappa Pasadena area alumnae met last night in the home of Mrs. Joseph N. Phelps, 1430 Old House Rd., for its annual Christmas party.

Highlight of the evening was an exchange of gifts for the members. Co-hostesses were Mrs. James Johnston and Miss Roberta Petrick.

THERE WILL be 10 decorated trees this year. The kindergartens and first grades will decorate their own trees. The second grades will decorate the one in the hall. There will also be a big tree in the auditorium on the stage, to be used as part of the Christmas program at the PTA meeting. When school closes for the holidays, the trees will be given to needy organizations for their use.

Symphony Picks Soloists for Cast Of 'The Messiah'

Soloists for the Pasadena Symphony Association's Christmas program have been selected, according to Mrs. William C. Young, business manager.

Appearing on Sunday, Dec. 14, with the Pasadena Symphony Orchestra and Chorus of 80 voices in Handel's "The Messiah" will be soprano Maralin Niska, a student of Madame Lotte Lehmann's and a finalist in the 1957 Metropolitan Opera auditions, and Peggy Coburn, contralto soloist at the Hollywood Congregational Church and wife of pianist-composer Bill Coburn.

Also appearing will be tenor Richard Robinson, who has made numerous West Coast appearances, including several with Los Angeles Philharmonic; and Robert Oliver, bass, who sang the role of Samuel in Dr. Lett's recent production of Handel's "Saul." Virginia Wellman sings the angel.

Complimentary tickets are necessary for admission to the Civic Auditorium. The program begins at 8 o'clock; doors open at 2:45.

Sierra-Hastings Camp Fire Log

Sierra-Hastings District boasts five men from this area on the executive board of the San Gabriel Valley Council of Camp Fire Girls. They are Dr. Joseph Michaels, Eugene Field principal, and James Stivers, both vice presidents; Norman Shanks, Robert Cress and Bill Kindrick.

All of them have served before. They were introduced at the annual council dinner installation Dec. 2 at the Pasadena City Women's Club.

WI-NO-TA, sixth grade Sierra Madre School, entertained at the dinner with a Camp Fire song. These girls, under the guardianship of Mrs. Phyllis Nordyke, are Lauren Davidson, Kathy Kindrick, Judy Nordyke, Vickie Petosa, Paula Walker and Melissa Nash. Mrs. Elmer Petosa was in charge of their transportation.

TAN-DA-I-YO-HL, sixth grade Camp Fire Girls from Eugene Field School, under the guardianship of Mrs. Amy Phillipson, made table favors for the annual faculty Christmas luncheon today at the Joseph Cummins home.

A tiny snowman atop gilded and silver leaves was made for each teacher and staff member by members of the group. They are Amelia Estrda, Denise Harrison, Rachelle Koonz, Cheryl Lingren, Susan Myers, Alice Phillipson, Linda Shrouder, Linda Skamser, Sandra Vail, Leslie Veale and Marsha Washburn.

Sierra Madreans Represented In Publication

In the November issue of Arizona Highways, a Sierra Madre artist, Marvin Wiese, has pictured in words "Silly Patterns," illustrated with photos by Don Long.

The cover of this issue shows a typical western gun-toter painted in brilliant reds. Inside the cover is the illustrated story of the western heroes of the gun-slinger era. Both the story and pictures are the work of a former Sierra Madrean, Lea Franklin McCarty, born in Texas and now making his home in Arizona.

The original paintings of this series are at Knott's Berry Farm.

Home-Baked Fruit Cake
Makes Ideal Christmas GiftBy Toni Maurin
SY 7-9634

With holiday time so near the thought of fruit cake becomes a must. What nicer gift to give them than a specialty out of your own kitchen.

I wandered into a neighbor's kitchen the other day to greet the aroma of her special fruit cake baking in the oven. After tasting the finished product I begged for her recipe. My neighbor, Mrs. Sam Matloff, has been baking this particular recipe for years and it is different because it contains chocolate.

DARK FRUITCAKE
(About 15 pounds)

- 1 lb. glazed pineapple
- 1 lb. blanched almonds
- 1 3/4 lb. fresh dates
- 15 oz. seeded raisins
- 1/2 lb. sliced candied orange peel
- 2 cups sugar
- 2 oz. melted bitter chocolate
- 1 cup fruit juice
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 tsp. allspice
- 1 tsp. soda
- 1 lb. glazed cherries
- 1 lb. shelled pecans
- 15 oz. currants
- 1/2 lb. sliced citron
- 1/2 lb. sliced candied lemon peel
- 1 lb. butter or margarine
- 1 cup honey or molasses
- 12 eggs
- 6 cups all purpose flour
- 1 tbs. cinnamon
- 2 tsp. nutmeg

Method:

1. Cut fruit into desired-size pieces, leaving cherries and nut meats whole.
2. Cream butter or margarine, to which add sugar gradually. Then stir in honey or molasses.
3. Add melted chocolate.
4. Sift flour with other dry ingredients two or three times to blend spices through flour thoroughly.
5. Beat eggs to mix well but not excessively.
6. Add dry ingredients alternately with fruit juice and eggs. Beat until all lumps are removed.
7. Add fruit to batter.
8. Pour into pans lined with waxed paper and bake at 275 degrees F. until done in center. (About 2-2 1/2 hours in 1 lb. coffee tins.)
9. Remove from pans. Remove paper. Wrap in fresh waxed paper. Store in tightly covered tin box.

Mrs. Matloff bakes her cakes in coffee tins and then returns them to the tins for storage. You may return them to fresh coffee tins that have been gilded and decorated on the outside for gift giving. In order to make them a little fancier, they may be decorated on top with whole pieces of pineapple and glazed cherry. The cake turns out a beautiful cocoa colored brown and is ambrosia to eat.

DON'T NEGLECT the white fruit cake which has become virtually a thing of the past.

WHITE FRUIT CAKE

Blend until creamy 1 cup sifted sugar and 1 cup butter; beat in 1 at a time, 4 egg yolks. Sift together the following and add to the egg mixture:

- 2 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 tsp. any baking powder, 1 tsp. freshly ground nutmeg.
- Whip till stiff but not dry, 4 egg whites beaten with 1/4 tsp. salt. Set aside.

Mix together the following fruits and add to flour mixture:

- 1 cup chopped nut meats (preferably slivered blanched almonds)
- 1/2 cup finely sliced citron, orange or lemon peel
- 1/2 cup finely shredded coconut
- 1/4 cup white raisins
- 1/4 cup chopped candied pineapple
- 1/4 cup drained maraschino cherries cut in half

When fruit and flour mixture have been thoroughly blended fold egg whites lightly into batter. Bake in a greased tube pan or loaf pans in a 325 degree F. oven for about an hour or until cake springs back to touch.

State Promises Christmas Season
Attack on Drunk Driving

Drinking drivers will receive special attention during the December holidays, according to plans revealed in Sacramento by the California Highway Patrol and the State Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control.

Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell and ABC Director Russell S. Munro, joining in a two-pronged attack on the drinking driver problem, promise professional enforcement action against all violators.

"Our cooperative enforcement efforts have brought favorable results in the past," Munro declared. "Our agents will again work closely with the Patrol in a determined campaign to control the excessive drinking situation on and off the highways."

"We are asking all military and local police agencies to join us in this effort during the holidays and we are looking forward to a broader and more effective program," Caldwell said. "We are also conducting an extensive public information program which we hope will reach every user of our streets and highways between now and Christmas Eve."
